

THE STARVING RUSS

Terrible Condition of the Czar's Subjects.

RAVAGES OF FAMINE UNABATED

Thousands of Peasants Making Desperate Efforts to Reach the United States.

The People are Refused Seed for Spring Planting—The Authorities Say That the Peasants Would Eat the Seed as Soon as They Got It—Persons Dying by the Score Without Nurses or Physicians—Farm Cattle Almost Died Out.

Zemch, March 13.—The Committee for the relief of suffering in Russia has received a letter from the Countess Tolstoy in acknowledgement of the last contributions sent from Zurich. She says that her husband has founded 100 new kitchens with the committee's aid, and serves in them two plain hot meals daily. She says that private contributors should send their money to some relief committee if they wish to ascertain the particulars of the use of their money, as she and her family are too busy among the peasants to give even general reports.

The ravages of the famine throughout Russia she describes as unabated in horror. Thousands of peasants in South-eastern Russia are making every effort to emigrate to the United States, but many of them are unable to sell their belongings for enough to pay their way. The German peasants from the Volga regions are moving out in great numbers. In each village through which the bands of colonists pass they are beset by crowds of men and women trying to sell their beds, plows or clothing, so as to get money enough to enable them to leave the country. The colonists, however, have no money for buying. Most of them have had their property in cattle and, since the beginning of the famine, they have lost most of their herds. In the Volga region eighty-five per cent. of the cows and oxen, and one-third of the horses have died for lack of food.

Members of the relief committee here say that stories of maladministration on the part of the authorities are reported almost daily. In Rovno the Government has an annual income of 100,000 roubles as its disposal, yet has not done a thing for the starving poor in and around the city. There was not a public relief kitchen in the place until the Red Cross Society opened one recently with money sent from Zurich.

The peasants in Southern Russia who are too poor to move are beseeching the district authorities for seed for the spring planting, but have obtained no response. The authorities say that the peasants would eat the seed as soon as they got it, and then would want more for the fields.

In Jeddah the farm cattle here died out almost completely, so that little can be done toward raising crops. Reports from Oufik, in Asiatic Russia, say that the whole city has been turned into a hospital for typhoid patients, and that persons are dying by the score, without nurses or physicians.

In Western Russia, near the German and Austrian frontiers, the misery of the population has been aggravated by the troops advancing toward the border. A regiment of soldiers is often billeted upon a village of but 3,000 or 4,000 inhabitants for 48 hours.

Relief Steamer Missouri sails To-Day.

New York, March 13.—The steamship Missouri, laden with a cargo of 2,500 tons of flour and corn meal for the starving Russians, will leave here today. Greenville, Ferris & Co. have supplied 2,500,000 pounds of flour to take the place of that destroyed by the blizzard.

JOHN L. INCENSED.

Says That Corbett Won't be a Taste for Him.

CHICAGO, March 13.—John L. Sullivan, upon being shown a paper which contained Corbett's criticism of him, was very much incensed after reading the same, venting his feelings as follows:

"Why, that fellow Corbett won't be a taste for me, see! It took him 27 rounds to whip little Joe Gans and only fought Jackson to a draw when the tiger went in the ring with broken legs. Corbett a fighter? Not much. You would say it was a snap to go out in the street and pick up $25,000, wouldn't you? Well, that's just how easy Corbett is for me."

A PROFITABLE TALK.

OUR SPECIAL REPORTER SECURES THE FACTS.

He Determined to Thoroughly Investigate a Subject That is Causing Much Comment, and He Has Succeeded.

(N. Y. Spec.)

Two days ago one of the most prominent professional men in New York published a letter so outspoken, so unusual as to cause extensive talk and awaken much comment. Yesterday I interviewed the gentleman as to the contents of the letter, and he fully confirmed it in every respect. He not only did this but he also mentioned a number of unusual cases, which had come under his observation in which little less than a miracle had been performed.

So important has the entire subject become that I determined to investigate it to the bottom, and accordingly called upon Mr. Albert G. Eaves, the prominent oculist at No. 63 East Twelfth street, the gentleman mentioned in my interview with the doctor yesterday. Mr. Eaves has made quite a name. A complete knowledge of history, an appreciation of art and reliability are essential in his profession.

"Mr. Eaves," I said, "I learn that your wife has had a most unusual experience; are you willing to describe it?"

The gentleman thought a moment and an expression of pleasure passed over his face. "When I think," he said, "of what my wife once passed through and the condition she is in now I cannot but feel grateful. Nearly three years ago she was at the point of death. You can understand how sick she was when I say she was totally blind and lay in a state of unconsciousness. Three doctors attended her and all agreed that her death was only a question of hours, perhaps minutes."

"May I ask what the doctors called her trouble?"

"Uraemia and puerperal convulsions, so you can imagine how badly she must have been. At last one doctor (this was Dr. R. A. Gunn) said that she was still able to swallow one more attempt might be made and a medicine was accordingly given her. She seemed to improve at once. In a few days her sight was restored. 'I have had a long, long sleep,' she said, upon recovering consciousness, and I am rejoiced to say that she was restored to perfect health wholly through the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which was the remedy administered when she was past all consciousness."

I looked at Mr. Eaves as he said this. His face was beaming with satisfaction. He continued:

"The physicians told us, after my wife's recovery, that she could never endure child-birth, and yet we have a fine boy nearly a year old, and do not know what sickness is. I attribute it all to the wonderful power of Warner's Safe Cure. Why, my sister, who resides in Virginia, was a while ago, afflicted precisely as my wife had been. I at once advised her to use this same great remedy; it cured her promptly."

"You find that it is specially adapted for women, do you?" I inquired.

"By no means. I have known it to be wonderful in its power in the case of gentlemen to whom I have recommended it. I speak from experience entirely, and you should not be surprised that I am so firm a believer in this discovery which has done so much for me."

I was not surprised. I saw by every word, by every look, that Mr. Eaves meant all he said. I had ample confirmation of Dr. Gunn's letter and in my interview, and I do not wonder that people who have seen such things, who have watched their dearest friends go down into the dark valley and be brought back into the light, should be both enthusiastic and grateful. I myself caught the spirit, and I should gladly if the investigations I have made prove of profit to those who may read them.

Cott n—Its Over-production.

Edward Vernon, in Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly, contributes by far the ablest article that has yet appeared on the question of the over-production of cotton. The cheapness of cotton is such as to alarm the great Southern planters, and inasmuch as cotton, before the spread of wheat-growing, was king of products, this article must attract the attention of all classes of men. The late press for this week's issue also comprises a very spirited illustrated story entitled "A Game for Two." There is also given a very interesting interview with Editor William D. Howells of the Commonwealth. The thousands of friends of Mr. Howells should not overlook this number of the Weekly, in which is given Mr. Howells' views on questions pertaining to general literature. An article on the life and influence of the late President Porter of Yale is also given, and there is an illustrated article on the legalized brutality in the different athletic clubs of New York. If you have not seen a copy of the much changed Frank Leslie's Weekly, cut out this paragraph and send it to the Arkell Weekly Company, 110 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The investigation, however, which was short, resulted in the creation of an arbitration and mine inspector. The managers of the works are indignant at the course pursued, and have resolved to close up their place for an indefinite period.
